No objections Yard waste proposal meets no opposition

By Bob Slato
Staff writer

A proposed city-owned yard waste transfer station will have little impact on the value of nearby residential property, experts have testified.

Although all owners of nearby property were notified in writing of a public hearing Thursday on the proposed permanent facility, to be located just west of 25th Street between the Norfolk and Western railroad tracks and Center Street, none of them were present.

The proposed facility would be located at the site of an existing temporary yard waste drop-off facility. It is about 200 feet away from the nearest residential property line.

Street Superintendent Jerry Lakin said residents could drop off leaves, grass clippings, brush and garden waste at the proposed facility — but no residential garbage or hazardous waste.

The facility would employ the use of a huge tub grinder to mulch the material, which would then be taken to another site for composting.

John Jurgiel, an industrial hygienist with a master's degree from Harvard University, testified at the hearing that the noise generated by the tub grinder would be about 60 decibels at the nearest property line, or slightly more quiet than the noise level of normal conversation at a distance of three feet.

The approximately 75 trains per day that already pass by the proposed site produce considerably more noise, Jurgiel said.

Lakin said the facility would be open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. He said odor will be controlled by the use of chemicals and daily removal of yard waste.

Peter Poletti, a certified property appraiser, said similar facilities in the St. Louis area — including one in Ladue located near $500,000 to $600,000 homes — have had little impact on property values.

Poletti said the proposed facility in Granite City is compatible with surrounding land uses.

Assistant City Attorney Brian Konzen said the city has received a letter from Joe Parente, administrator of the Madison County Environmental, Building and Zoning department, stating that the proposed facility is in compliance with the county's solid waste plan.

Lakin said the facility is needed to (See WASTE, Page 4A)

Schools set for opening

While most teachers are getting ready for the start of a new school year, kindergarten teachers in the Madison School District are getting ready for something special.

This year the district is starting full-day kindergarten at the Blair and Harris elementary schools.

The school board approved going to a full-day kindergarten last spring, and Superintendent Gary Allison said the program seems to be shaping up nicely.

"Most districts are either doing it or going in that direction," he said. "We think we're ready."

Teachers in the five kindergarten classes received four to five days of special training to prepare, Allison said, and the district gave them more money to purchase supplies.

"They're happy and ready to go," he said.

Lauren Parks-Goins, a kindergarten teacher at Harris, was busy rearranging her classroom. She also had her family there to help paint a mural on the wall.

Leaking toilet knocks employees out of work

One leaking toilet knocked about a dozen Madison County Courthouse employees temporarily out of work Tuesday morning when they found offices full of damaged court files, fallen ceiling tiles, warped furniture and drenched computer systems.

"It was the nastiest leak I've ever seen," Marty Siglock, the county's Building Administrator said. "Everything is ruined. It's a mess."

A toilet on the building's fourth floor apparently began leaking sometime Monday evening or early Tuesday and continued to flow until employees arrived about 8 a.m.

A handful of court reporters crossed their fingers, hoping (See LEAK, Page 8A)

Signals mixed on teen-age drug use

By Bob Slato
Staff writer

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has reported that drug use among 12- to 17-year-olds has more than doubled nationwide since 1992, and this area may be no exception.

Colleen Cameron, certified alcohol and drug counselor at St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Behavioral Health System in Granite City, said she was not surprised by the report.

"This increase may surprise a lot of people, but it comes as no surprise to those of us in the treatment and prevention field," Cameron said.

She said that the perception of drug use among teens has changed, and with that change has come increased use.

"Pot smoking is downplayed as though we should be glad that it isn't heroin," she said.

In addition to the change in perception, she said, several other factors have contributed to the rise in drug use, including an earlier age for Granite City Mayor Ron Selph, an alumnus of BAC, speaks at the college's 50th anniversary picnic.

BAC kicks off 50th anniversary

As the celebration of Belleville Area College's 50th anniversary kicked off last week, school officials looked not only at the past but forward.

"BAC has an aggressive agenda for the future," said Harold Johnson, provost of the Granite City Campus. "We want to go to every corner of the district where people want to learn."

Johnson made his remarks at noon Wednesday to a crowd composed of local dignitaries, BAC board trustees and GCC faculty, staff and students.

BAC started in 1946 as Belleville Junior College. Classes were conducted in converted Army barracks behind Belleville Township High School.

In 1966, the college moved to the newly constructed Belleville East High School. Five years later, the campus opened on Carlyle Road in Belleville and changed its name to Belleville Area College.

The Granite City Campus opened in 1983. Two years later, the school purchased the former Granite City High School-North building from the Granite City school district.

Mayor Ron Selph, a 1971 graduate of BAC's police academy and the 1996 recipient of the college's Distinguished Alumni Award, said he is doubly proud to have a campus in Granite City.

"It is a tremendous advantage to have a community college of BAC's quality in Granite City," Selph said. "They provide technical training and a real foundation for pursuing a higher degree."

Selph joked that he shares several things in common with his old school. "We were both born in 1946," Selph said. "But Belleville Area College is in much better shape than I am."

BAC President Joe Cipfi spoke of the college leaders' desire to not rest on its laurels as one of the finest community colleges in the state, but to keep preparing students for the future.

"I certainly hope that when they gather here in 2046, that they will say the same things that we have been saying about the people 50 years ago: they had a vision, they had courage, they had commitment," Cipfi said.

BAC treated those attending the school's anniversary celebration to a barbecued picnic lunch.

Madison schools seek to save money

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A change in interest rates will allow the Madison school district to restructure its bond debt and use the savings to pay for life-safety work at no additional cost to taxpayers.

The move will actually mean a small reduction in property taxes because the district will be reducing the levy for life-safety by four-fifths.

At Thursday's meeting the board approved a series of resolutions to allow the restructuring after a presentation by Raymond Coyne of William Blair & Co.

Board President John Hamm said the move will make about $237,000 available for life-safety improvements.

Life-safety bonds are issued to pay for work to meet health and safety requirements. School districts normally conduct a survey to determine what must be done and can issue bonds and levy taxes to pay for the work without voter approval.

Superintendent Gary Allison emphasized that would not be the case, and that taxpayers would see a small decrease in property taxes.

The district now levies 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation for life-safety. This will decrease to about 1 cent per $100.

For the owner of a $30,000 house, that would mean a tax savings of $4 per year.

"It is possible for the district to restructure its existing debt and take advantage of that, to complete some of the district health-life safety work," said Superintendent Gary Allison. "By restructuring the existing debt, the current tax levy for the bonds and interest fund will be sufficient for the new bond issue."

He said some of the work to be done will include roof work, electrical repairs, facia, and window repairs.

In other financial news, Allison said the district's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be balanced.

"Most programs are maintained at least at the level to which they were supported in the just completed year," he said. "Some programs including high school art and student interscholastic programs received a few additional dollars."

The budget will be discussed at a public hearing at 6:45 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 19, and is expected to be approved by the board the same night.

Maintaining a balanced budget taken off as soon as the Illinois State Board of Education's certified watch list.

Allison said the school has met all the requirements and can be taken off as soon as the state bureaucracy gets to it.

Man charged with failing to pay toll

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A Granite City man was charged after he allegedly failed to pay the toll at the McKinley Bridge in Venice — something that toll collectors said he does regularly.

Patrick E. Hill, 22, of the 890 block of Justice Court in Granite City, was arrested about 4:30 p.m. Thursday. According to police reports, about 4 p.m. police received a report of a black BMW running the toll. Police searched the area but could not find the vehicle.

However, about 30 minutes later a toll booth worker called police and said the car had returned. Police arrived and arrested Hill.

The toll worker told police that the car comes through about the same time every day and the driver fails to pay the proper toll.

In an unrelated case, a Venice man was arrested after police broke up a fight at the Bissell Street apartments.

Jermaine Smith, 22, of the 1289 block of Oriole, Venice, was charged with battery and criminal trespass to land.

At about 1 a.m. Wednesday, police received a report of a man and two women fighting in front of the apartments. When they arrived, police allegedly found Smith and two women fighting.

Smith was forced to the ground by police after he allegedly refused to obey police.

The women said Smith had come over and started arguing with them, striking one of them in the face. Police said Smith has been involved in several fights at that location, and had been warned to stay away from there or be arrested.

4 arrested in Madison

Four people were arrested on various charges after being stopped by Madison police Monday.

At about 7:50 p.m., Wayne L. Jones, 24, of the 500 block of Fillmore Avenue, Venice, was charged with driving with a suspended license and operating an uninsured motor vehicle after being stopped in the 300 block of State Street.

At about 9:10 p.m., two people were arrested after police pulled over a car being driven by Brady Michelle Tadlock, 21, of the 1800 block of Sixth Street, Madison.

Tadlock was charged with having no valid drivers' license, operating an uninsured motor vehicle and operating a motor vehicle while the registration was suspended because of mandatory insurance violations.

Also arrested was the passenger, James J. Widel, 24, of the same address.

A record check showed he was wanted for failure to appear on four warrants: assault, driving with no valid drivers' license and two counts of operating an uninsured motor vehicle.

At 11:30 p.m., David A. Dunigan, 30, of the 700 block of Second Street in Venice was charged with having no valid drivers' license after being pulled over by police.

"I have a very, very cooperative family, and they're extremely supportive," she said. "I just asked and they came."

While she unpacked, her husband Rocco Goins painted a rainbow on the wall and stepdaughters Zora and Zena painted above the door.

"I'm very excited about the mural because it's nice and bright and it encourages learning," Parks-Goins said.

"I'm also very excited because we're preparing for our first year of full-day kindergarten."

She added that she is also excited about the full-day kindergarten.

The first thing she plans to teach her new students is the letter A.

"I do the alphabet first," she said. "I do a letter per week, so that would be the first lesson for the week."

While Parks-Goins was painting and moving, fellow kindergarten teacher Mary Kaeser was also working, and also bringing back her class pet, a guinea pig named Ginger, who spent the summer with students.

"I'm doing a lot, Kaeser said. "I had to move a lot of my furniture around."

She said the full-day kindergarten would be a good experience.

"It will be a lot better," she said. "I won't feel so rushed throughout the day, it will be a more relaxed, slower pace, and the kids will benefit from it."

While they prepared for the full-day program, others were also getting ready.

"It's looking good," said Principal Dave Becherer. "At this point the custodians are finishing up the gymnasium and the kitchen for us."

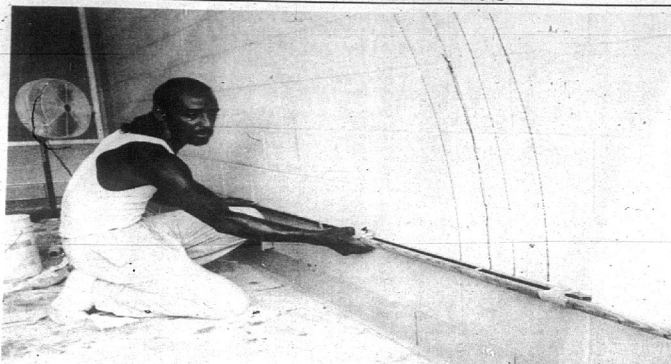

"They've got the building all finished where the teachers are working, and the teachers are in taking care of their rooms."

In Madison, school starts Aug. 27. For the first week the school will be on a heat schedule.

"We'll be in an hour earlier than usual and leaving two hours earlier than usual," he said.

Classes will run from 7:20 a.m. to 1:10 p.m. at the elementary schools.

"We're allowing them to bring water bottles into the classroom," he said. "Since we are on the heat schedule it won't get that hot in the building by 1:10, but if the temperature flares up one day, we'll be around with ice water."

He also said there were two parks nearby.

"Occasionally I have a teacher or two out underneath the trees," he said.

Schools in Venice will begin on Aug. 27 and on Sept. 3 in Granite City.

Teacher Lauren Parks-Goins stands back to admire the progress as her husband, Rocco Goins, and her daughter, Zena, work on the mural. Rocco's other daughter, Zora, also assisted.

Emissions testing expands

Motorists from more areas of Madison and St. Clair counties will be forced to have emissions inspections for their vehicles under a plan announced Thursday.

State officials said the inspections will become mandatory for motorists in Edwardsville and numerous other communities.

The inspections are currently required for about 150,000 local motorists in 16 ZIP codes in the Metro East, including the Granite City area.

In about two years, 300,000 motorists in 32 ZIP codes will face the inspections once every two years.

Elizabeth Tracy, vehicle maintenance division manager for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, outlined the new inspection program Thursday at a conference at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Mandatory inspections will begin in the Belleville and Collinsville areas, she said.

Construction of inspection stations to serve the new areas will start in April 1997. The stations' exact locations will remain a mystery until the IEPA awards a contract on the new program sometime this fall.

"I don't have a crystal ball so I can't tell you where the new stations will be located," Tracy said. "Whoever is awarded the contract will make that decision."

Tracy said IEPA will require only that the stations be located within 12 miles of 95 percent of the population they serve, and that motorists not wait for more than 20 minutes for inspections.

"We anticipate that three or four new stations will be needed, but the contractor will make the final decision," she said.

Older stations in Wood River, Mitchell and East St. Louis will also be retrofitted for new testing standards. New equipment for the older stations will cost $50,000.

Existing stations are run by Envirotech Technologies Inc., which will have to reapply to be considered under the new program.

Cities that will now be required to have emissions testing include Collinsville, Caseyville, Belleville, Fairview Heights, O'Fallon.

VFW Auxiliary seeks help for men in Bosnia

The Granite City Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300 Ladies Auxiliary needs your help. The auxiliary is planning to send care packages to the men and women in the Granite City area serving in Bosnia in the armed forces.

So far, the group has 13 names of men and women serving. But it wants to make sure no one is left out. If you know of someone in the area who is stationed in Bosnia, call Elaine Horton at 452-8708 or write to 2801 Cayuga, Granite City, Ill., 62040.

Donations of personal items would be appreciated, along with cash donations to help offset the cost of postage. Make checks payable to VFW Ladies Auxiliary Post 1300 and send them to the above address.

Items the troops are requesting include soap, shampoo, deodorant, feminine hygiene products for the women, hard candy (no chocolate), gum, pre-sweetened instant drinks, stationery, pens, pencils and magazines — anything that would bring a little bit of home to the men and women in Bosnia.

This brings back a lot of memories to Horton, who, in high school in Festus, Mo., helped send care packages to the boys from Jefferson County, Mo., who were serving in Vietnam.

"There is a lot of work in a project like this," said Horton. "But knowing you brought a little sunshine to someone far from home is the reward."

•Drugs

alcohol addiction is often not recognized as an illness, Camacho said.

The federal drug abuse report stated that drug use among 12- to 17-year-olds rose 10 percent from 1992 to 1995. The increase was from 5.3 percent of those surveyed in 1992 to 10.9 percent in 1995.

There were 22.2 million Americans in that age group last year and 20.7 million in 1992, according to government figures.

The survey of 17,747 people showed levels of drug use were about the same among white, black and Hispanic teens and in teens from different economic backgrounds.

Granite City Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said that evidence does not indicate such a large increase in drug use by youngsters here.

"I don't believe those statistics accurately reflect the situation in Granite City," Ruebhausen said.

The report flies in the face of the DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program popular in many schools, which teaches kids ways to avoid peer pressure, drugs and alcohol.

But Ruebhausen said the increase in drug use does not indicate the program has failed.

"I'd hate to see where we'd be without it," he said.

The DARE program isn't the only example of cooperation between local police and school officials to combat drugs.

Granite City police conducted a number of "sweeps" through local schools this year, utilizing drug-sniffing dogs to detect marijuana before obtaining warrants to search lockers. Police conducted the operation at the urging of school officials.

While the first sweep at Granite City High School resulted in a handful of arrests and confiscation of a small quantity of marijuana, a second sweep at the high school turned up no narcotics.

Similar operations were conducted at Grigsby and Collins middle schools. No narcotics were found.

This school year, Ruebhausen said, uniformed officers will be watching for students using drugs on their way to school.

But, he said, schools and police can't take care of the problem alone.

For example, while searching a middle school locker last year after a K-9 indicated it contained narcotics, police confiscated a jacket that Ruebhausen said reeked of marijuana. The boy who owned the jacket, said, "I was just wearing it because my father smokes marijuana at home."

"Parents and the community must support the effort to give kids a real clear message," Ruebhausen said. This is best fought on the home front through love and understanding and interest in the lives of young people.

Last week, police confiscated a small amount of heroin at a middle-aged adult, Ruebhausen said.

No charges have been filed in the case as police are waiting for results of chemical analysis of the alleged heroin from the crime lab.

Ruebhausen said that many other crimes, including robbery, prostitution and illegal weapons possession, for example — can often be linked to drug use.

Sister Linda Hylla, a licensed clinical social worker at SEMC, said there are signs and symptoms indicating drug abuse among teens.

"Adolescents who use drugs often look like the everyday adolescent," Hylla said. "Some of the behaviors to look for are truancy, change of friends, erratic day-to-day behavior changes and failure on the part of the parent to change the adolescent's behavior."

Sister Hylla will head an after-school, intensive, outpatient program at SEMC, treating adolescents for chemical dependency and depression. The program will begin in September.

The BHS at SEMC conducts free weekly community education programs. BHS can be reached 24 hours a day by calling 798-3868.

Only one zip code in Monroe County, 62236 around Columbia, will be included in the new inspection area.

The areas added for emissions testing include the following zip codes:

62025, 62026, 62034, 62035, 62092, 62098, 62220, 62221, 62222, 62223, 62225, 62232, 62234, 62236, 62239 and 62294.

The Metro East communities in the original emissions testing include East St. Louis, Chokio, Granite City, Duplo, Alton and Wood River.

The new inspection program was authorized by the state legislature in January 1995 to comply with the federal Clean Air Act of 1990. The IEPA announced later that the Metro East inspection area would be expanded.

IEPA officials estimate that ozone production has decreased 5-10 percent in the Metro East since the inspection program started in 1986. A 10-20 percent decrease is anticipated after the new program begins.

Motorists currently do not pay directly for inspections. The state pays Envirotest $5.82 for each inspection with motor fuel tax funds.

However, the new, stricter tests, will cost more. "We don't know if the higher cost

Virginia Voegtle

Virginia Lucille (Johnson) Belobradic Voegtle, 73, of Hanington, Texas, formerly of Collinsville in Collinsville, Mo., died at 6:42 p.m. Monday, Aug. 19, 1996, at St. Joseph Hospital in St. Louis.

She was born July 27, 1923, in Granite City, Mo.

Ms. Voegtle was a member of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in Collinsville and Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) in Collinsville.

Survivors include two sons, Jerome Belobradic of Columbus, Ga., and Donald Joseph Belobradic of Bryan, Texas; one daughter, Linda Schneider of Glen Carbon; two brothers, Elmer "Gene" Johnson of LaFayette, Texas, and Rustin, Mildred Bright of Collinsville; and Edith Hume of Rochester, N.Y., and five grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, Emil M. Belobradic, whom she married Oct. 13, 1943, in St. Louis; her second husband, Charles Voegtle, whom she married June 17, 1972, in Belleville; and who died March 30, 1995; one son, Michael James Belobradic, who died Aug. 27, 1982; her parents, Joseph and Laverne (Blanken) Johnson; and two brothers, Ernest "Boots" and Joseph Johnson.

Services were Saturday at Herbert Hospital in St. Louis, with the Rev. Robert Morris officiating. Burial was in St. Peter and Paul Catholic Cemetery in Collinsville.

Memorials are requested for ALS (Lou Gehrig Disease) Foundation.

Glen Duval

Glen D. (Stevens) Duval, 75, of Pontoon Beach died at 4:29 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 22, 1996, at Alton Memorial Hospital in Alton, following a five-week illness.

Born March 19, 1921, in Cold Water, Mo., he had been a resident of Pontoon City for 15 years, living in Granite City for 15 years prior to that.

A cashier with Reese Drug Store for 10 years, he was a member of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club.

Survivors include two daughters, Charlotte Fowler of Pontoon Beach and Shirley Ann of St. Louis; one son, King of Granite City; five grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his husband, Everett Duval, whom she married Nov. 1940, and by his parents, James and Martha Alice Stevens, both of Pontoon Beach, Mo.; his brothers, Kenneth and Russell Stevens; and one sister, Wanda Leach.

Visitation is from 4 to 8 p.m. today, at Werner Chapel for Funeral in Alton, where services are at 10 a.m. Monday with the Rev. Roy Boyer officiating. Burial will be in Hillview Memorial Gardens in Farmington, Mo.

Angie Hutton

Angie E. (McCalland) Mathis Hutton, 80, of Aiken, S.C., formerly of Granite City, died at 1:55 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 22, 1996, in Aiken. She was born June 22, 1916, in Aiken, S.C.

A teacher at Eisenhower High School for 40 years prior to her retirement, she was a past grand and former member of the Aiken Chapter of the United Methodist Church in Granite City, where she and her husband moved.

Survivors include her husband, John Hutton, whom she married in 1972; one son, John Hutton of Granite City; seven grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, Walter Hutton, whom she married in 1942 in Vandalia, Mo.; her parents, James S. and Edith (Baker) McCalland; and her sister, Edith LaNelle Knoble, who died July 23, 1995.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 26, at the First Baptist Church in Aiken, S.C., with the Rev. Dr. J. B. McCalland officiating. Burial will be in the Aiken Memorial Gardens in Aiken, S.C.

Survivors include several nephews and nieces.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, Thomas White; her stepchildren, Stanley and Elizabeth (Stacy) Andrews; her sons, Leonard, Bobby and Frank Andrews; and two sisters, Kate Andrews and Mary Andrews.

The family will receive friends from 5 to 8 p.m. Monday, Aug. 26, at a memorial service held at 6 p.m. Monday with the Rev. Francis T. Andrews officiating. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery in Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the American Cancer Society.

will be paid from the motor fuel tax, other state funds or possible some kind of fee to motorists," Tracy said.

During the new tests, motorists drive their cars onto a scale of rollers. The car is then tested by revving the engine to simulate climbing a steep hill. Sensors monitor the car's emissions throughout the test.

Repeated failure to pass the test could result in suspending the motorist's drivers license until repairs are made.

Reaction from the audience at Thursday's conference was skeptical regarding the ability of the new regulations to handle increased loads.

Bob Lindley Jr. of Carquest said the existing station in Wood River is often crowded. "Cars are often waiting all the way down Illinois Route 111," Lindley said.

Jay Rankin, fleet manager for Shell Wood River Refinery, said he tests his company's cars himself and wanted to know when he would have to make the switch to the new inspection.

Tracy said self-testers also have two years to comply.

Morris Binder, of Harrisonville Telephone Co., said his company in Monroe County will come under the new inspection program for the first time.

"I have 35 vehicles. Can I make a reservation?" he asked.

Tracy said no stations currently accept reservations, but there are periods when stations are not busy.

The conference was sponsored by the Regional Commerce and Growth Association, Belleville Economic Progress, Inc. and the River Bend Growth Association.

House tour set for Sept. 22

Each year, the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society conducts a tour of historic homes in Granite City.

As part of the city's Centennial Celebration, DNRS members are planning their most ambitious and interesting tour ever to be held Sept. 22.

"We hope to make this our biggest and best tour in our 23-year history," said Betty Meszaros of the DNRS.

Eleven homes, several are churches, a fire station museum, a historic building, a barber shop and a barbershop quartet are planned for the event.

Complimentary transportation will include a Victorian High Tea and a pancake and sausage breakfast will also be offered that day.

The tour will begin at 12:30 p.m. and continue to 6:30 p.m. Tickets will also be available on the day of the tour at Granite City Township Hall for $8. Group rates are also available. Call 451-1968 for more information.

To promote the event, the DNRS entered a float in the Centennial Parade in June. The float featured three Victorian turn-of-the-century homes on a peaceful street and members strolling in vintage costumes.

Members of the organization spent many long hours creating the float, which was awarded first place in the "Centennial" category.

that their computers, programs and laser printers could be salvaged. Court reporters are required to purchase their own equipment, which may not be protected under the county's insurance plan.

Madison County Chief Judge Nicholas Byron said the leak added more problems to an already overburdened courthouse.

"It is jury work so naturally we have extra people in the building," he said. "We had three extra trials scheduled and at least one courtroom was out of commission so we can shuffle people around."

Byron said he was told the leak may have been triggered by remodeling work on the third floor of the courthouse. Workers could have shut out water in the building for a brief period, which may have added pressure inside the plumbing.

Amid the mess, authorities continued increased security in response to the Aug. 12 fatal shooting of a Greenville city attorney. Officials fear the murder suspect, Kelly McGinnis, could attempt to enter the courthouse.

Police believe McGinnis is disgruntled by the outcome of his recent divorce. His whereabouts have not yet been determined.

SEMC offering diabetes class on Thursday

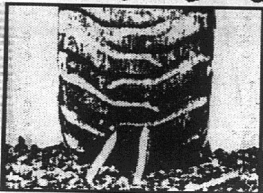

Are you a diabetic?
"You're not alone," said Kathy Haarmann, RN, BSN and certified diabetes educator. "There is no cure for diabetes, but there is a lot of information available that can help diabetics lead full lives and avoid further complications."

Kathy Haarmann, RN, BSN, the patient education coordinator at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will be part of the teaching team in a free Take Charge of Your Diabetes class offered at SEMC.

The class will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 29, in the Wiesman Room, on the first floor at SEMC, 2100 Madison Ave. The class will include: a general overview of diabetes, symptoms, diabetes management, exercise, testing and complications of the condition.

A registered dietitian will present nutrition information related to diabetes, including information on sweeteners, fiber, label reading and fast foods. A pharmacist will speak on medications, including insulin and oral agents.

Letters to the editor

Joke was misinterpreted

TO THE EDITOR:
When being interviewed for the voicebox section of your paper, I made a statement regarding the legalization of marijuana that I intended as a joke. But, unfortunately, it was misinterpreted by most people reading it.

At the time I was being interviewed, I had no idea of the repercussions that my statement would cause with my family and friends. In the situation that I answered the question, it was obvious to everyone present that I was joking. However, I did not take into consideration that for everyone else who was not there and read the article, the answer would be taken in a much different way.

I now understand that there is a time and place for humor. Unfortunately, I picked the wrong time and I apologize.

GREG STURDIVANT

Petition drive misleading

TO THE EDITOR:
In reference to the petition that was circulated in Granite City the week of Aug. 12, my neighbor and I were talking on the sidewalk when this girl approached and asked if we would sign this petition for a state tax cut. At no time did she mention anything about the township offices. The clipboard she had a page pulled over the top of the clipboard, and all we saw were signatures. We signed our names, and she even signed her son's name. I signed my husband's name.

It would be a big mistake to eliminate the township offices. Nelson Hagnauer did so much to help the people of Granite City. The buses for the seniors and the handicap would not have been possible without his help. I've been told that over 25,000 were transported alone last year. Most of them on fixed income.

If this is turned over to the city and county, someone will have to be hired to do the work and also be trained. The taxpayers will have to pay for this in the city's budget. If the buses are eliminated, that means the poor seniors and handicapped will lose.

Nelson Hagnauer and also Bernie, his wife, were and are always looking out for the people of Granite City. I have lived here for 39 years, and I have seen the good they did. Mr. Hagnauer is probably shaking his head up above at all the underhanded politics since his death.

Be careful of what you sign. Don't be tricked into signing a petition like we were.

I want my name and my husband's name and my neighbor wants her name removed from this petition. I'm sure there are plenty others like me.

Bernie Hagnauer hasn't even had time to grieve over her husband's death, and certain politicians have taken advantage of her. This is very, very sad.

Mihalich on wrong track

TO THE EDITOR:
Jim Mihalich stated on the radio the other day that he would vote against the lowering of the blood alcohol for drunks to .08 from the current level of .10. He said that he didn't want to hurt the retail businesses, i.e., taverns.

I would think that anyone who has ever been victimized by a drunk driver would be shocked and outraged.

The members and the leadership of Mothers Against Drunk Driving should immediately alert their friends and families of this irresponsible pledge.

We don't need a legislator representing us who would vote for drunks and bar owners over the safety of our loved ones. Shame on you, Mr. Mihalich.

Minimum wage jump-start

Davis pushes for faster implementation of new law

State Rep. Steve Davis wants to jump-start the new federal minimum wage law in Illinois by pushing for faster implementation and broader coverage. "I am going to introduce legislation in the November veto session calling for coverage for all individuals in Illinois and immediate implementation of the federal law," he said Wednesday outside the state Public Aid Office.

The federal law, signed Tuesday by President Bill Clinton, increases the minimum wage from $4.25 an hour to $4.75 effective Oct. 1 and to $5.15 by Sept. 1, 1997, but leaves out students, farm workers and those at businesses with four or fewer workers.

Davis' bill would cover all workers and move up the final effective date to Jan. 1, 1997.

"Every worker in the state should be entitled to make at least a minimum wage, and there is no reason for working families to have to struggle to get an additional eight months to receive a better living wage. Illinois can and should advance this cause for its working families," he said.

"Davis emphasized the point by introducing JoAnn Barnes, a single working mother from Bethalto who relies on the state for medical and nutritional programs, and Lester Ames, a 27-year-old Elmhurst man who struggles to make ends meet with a working wife and two children. They all earn minimum wage.

"We feel better working, but it's hard to make it on what we get," Ames said. Davis said his bill will cover all Illinois workers and give them faster access to $1,400 more a year in take-home pay.

Republican Jim Mihalich, Davis' opponent in the November election, said he favors market demand to establish wage rates.

"I'm still more concerned about bringing jobs into the region and letting the market dictate the levels of pay. The legislation is intrusive," he said.

Davis also has introduced a bill for the veto session to fully fund the Illinois Department of Aging's Meals on Wheels program, which lost ground in the spring budget battle, despite backing by the American Association of Retired Persons.

"Senior citizens have already been forced to sacrifice so much, and the federal government has been threatening to cut Social Security benefits and Medicare for the past two years. The least we can do at the state level is provide some of our homebound seniors with a good meal," Davis said.

Constituents take Costello's side

Voters in U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello's district apparently are more concerned with balanced budgets and illegal drugs than reports of possible secret business deals between Costello and federally indicted lawyer Amiel Cuetto.

"Costello was accused on the news before they had any facts or knew anything that was going on," Charlene Turner, 69, of Alton said. "I've voted since I was 18, and he's one of the ones I vote for."

Turner was part of a group of 25 Foster Grandparents to visit Costello during his office hours Wednesday at Alton City Hall.

She was more interested in finding money to fund programs for children than in an unnamed source pointing a finger at Costello as the secret partner in Cuetto's alleged gambling deals.

"We have 7-, 8- and 9-year-olds on drugs, and they need to start helping them now. By the time they get to high school, you can forget it," Turner said.

A federal indictment unsealed Aug. 9 said Cuetto's "unidentified business partner," then a public official, tried to use political influence to get Cuetto appointed state's attorney in St. Clair County and to develop a casino with an American Indian tribe.

The indictment links Cuetto, the secret partner and former Belleville businessman Thomas Venezia in the casino deal, which collapsed after federal agents raided Venezia's $37 million video gambling empire.

Cuetto has denied charges of obstructing the federal gambling investigation that led to Venezia's conviction in December.

The indictment does not name Costello, a Belleville Democrat, or accuse the partner of illegal activities, but an unnamed source reportedly identified Costello as the other partner.

Costello has repeatedly denied having any business relationship with Cuetto or anyone else since August 1992, when he sold his interest in a convenience store near Granite City jointly owned with Cuetto, a boyhood friend.

"I have done nothing improper or illegal," Costello said Wednesday at an office session with constituents at Wood River City Hall.

"I have always tried to answer every question the media has posed, but because the matter is pending before federal court, I have been advised it is inappropriate for me to make any further comment on the matter. I do not want any comment I would make to be interpreted to favor the prosecution or the defense."

Costello said he had nothing more to say until the court decides.

"I don't want to be accused of trying to influence the outcome of the case," he said.

Fred Hamel of Rosewood Heights said he was aware of the reports about Costello but was not particularly concerned. He wanted to talk about the budget, the electoral college and English as the nation's only language.

"That's something Costello will have to settle himself," he said.

Jim Benson of Alton said he was more interested in the economy and getting the deficit reduced and the budget balanced.

"As near as I can tell, no one has alleged anything illegal," he said.

Virginia Kirkpatrick of Operation Blessing in Wood River was concerned with welfare changes that could drive more people to seek help from volunteer organizations and food pantries like Operation Blessing.

"Some people have two part-time jobs and still can't make it. They need help," she said.

Census workers sought

The village of Pontoon Beach is still looking for temporary workers to help with a special census expected to start Monday.

Village Clerk Mary Rowden said the village was accepting applications for the positions, which would last for approximately three weeks.

Workers will make $6.50 per hour. Applicants must be U.S. citizens at least 18 years of age (or 16 with a high school diploma).

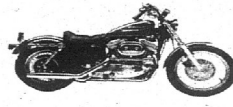

Workers are expected to begin counting village residents next week.

Village officials have said they expect to find at least 1,000 more people than were counted in the 1990 census conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau.

If that many extra residents are found, it would mean approximately $100,000 annually in increased revenue for the city, village officials said.

For information contact the village clerk's office at 797-9830.

Frank's Fall Lawn Food... Everything Your Lawn Needs In One Easy Application!

Watch Wednesday's Journal for more tips from the experts at Frank's!

Just like summers past, this one's near its end far too soon. Seems like we just got started and Labor Day's almost here. Unlike the 4th of July, this holiday isn't unique to Americans. Canada also gets in on the act, celebrating the same day as us. Many countries observe their equivalent of it on May 1.

Around here, Labor Day is the time for the final application of Frank's 4-season lawn care program. No need to wait, though, you can apply it any time during the next couple of weeks. If your lawn is relatively weed-free, make an application of Frank's Fall Lawn Food.

This product will allow your lawn to store food that will be used for growth early next spring. And this means a faster green-up, something that'll be most welcome after several months of winter.

Fall Lawn Food (24-3-12) is high in nitrogen, which means it promotes healthy green growth. Its potassium content is also high, which strengthens the lawn and gives it cold hardness to help it withstand the long winter. It also increases its resistance to diseases and insects.

To make it short, everything your lawn will need to survive the winter is in the bag of Frank's Fall Lawn Food. Apply it now and you can rest assured your lawn will be getting the very best of care.

If your lawn has weeds scattered here and there, chances are fairly good these weeds are dandelions. They may not look all that bad now, since all that's visible is the foliage, but you can bet they'll burst into full bloom next spring. That can be prevented, and the time to do it is now.

Weeds should be taken care of before applying the lawn fertilizer. Naturally, this means one more step, but it's less work next spring. And far more beautiful scenery. And Frank's Fall Lawn Food can be applied at a later date.

Dandelions and other weeds are busy storing up energy for the winter. They absorb weed killer better now, so this is the ideal time to do a number on 'em. An application of Frank's Weed & Feed now will eliminate the yellow blemishes all over your property next spring.

Proper application of any product to your lawn is extremely important. Too much is actually worse than not enough, and if you're not careful with the spreader, that's exactly what can happen.

When using a spreader, it can be very difficult to tell where you've been, and this leads to over- and under-fertilization. For a drop spreader, overlap each pass by one wheel width. When using a broadcast spreader, watch the pattern carefully and overlap each succeeding pass accordingly. Broadcast spreaders shouldn't be used in windy conditions, for obvious reasons.

For smaller areas, a hand-held spreader is ideal. These devices are broadcast-type spreaders, so use follow the same procedure for coverage. And the wind becomes an even bigger factor, since the granules have farther to fall, so wait until it's calm! All three types of spreaders are available at Frank's.

So that's about it as far as lawn care goes, at least for now. Feed it, weed it or both, it won't take too long. And you can enjoy your Labor Day weekend!

Salute to the Masters ending today

The ninth annual Midwest Salute to the Masters fine art festival ends this afternoon in Fairview Heights. More than 100 nationally known artists from New York to California and all points in between are participating in the festival, which began Saturday.

For the art festival, five large tents have been turned into art galleries at Longacre Park. More than 40,000 guests are expected before the event ends.

Hours today are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Some $17,600 in cash prizes, making this one of the largest cash purses in the Midwest, are being awarded to artists who work in a variety of art media. More than 10,000 works ranging from paintings to sculpture to jewelry to ceramics are on display.

The artists are available near their creations to talk to visitors and discuss their work. Exhibited art is available for purchase in prices ranging from $10 to $10,000.

One of the highlights of the free festival focuses on children. A "For Children Only" gallery allows children to buy art for only $5.

There also are a children's art exhibit and many hands-on art activities. Mimes, jugglers and magicians entertain children of all ages.

A festival food court featuring ethnic delights and other culinary creations is being presented by area restaurants and non-profit organizations.

Major sponsors of the 9th Annual Midwest Salute to the Masters are Fairview Heights and Magna Bank with support from NiteTech, Traube Canvas Products, the Southwestern Illinois Tourism and Convention Bureau, Continental Cablevision, Union Electric, St. Clair Square, Pace Properties, Kassidy Mortuary Ltd., Target Stores, Grand Rental Station, West Pointe Bank and Trust Company, Jack Schmitt Family of Dealerships, and Community First Bank.

Candidates pledge no new taxes

Both candidates for the 11th District house seat in November election are pledging no new taxes.

Republican challenger Jim Mihalich signed a no new tax pledge Thursday and challenged Rep. Steve Davis, Democrat of Bethalto, to do the same.

"We pay too much in taxes already, and we don't need to give the government any more of our money," Mihalich said, promising a no vote on any tax increases if elected to the General Assembly.

Davis said called the pledge "phony," but said he was willing to go along with Mihalich's challenge. "I will be happy to sign the no new tax pledge, but keep in mind it was the Republicans who raised taxes over $900 million in the last two years in Illinois," he said.

Mihalich said he also wants to see taxes reduced for Illinois working families.

"Last week, I called for a vote on property tax caps, and I now believe that not only should we oppose all tax increases, but we must also look at returning some money to the people," he said.

The state's 1995-96 budget has a $400 million surplus, twice the desired emergency amount, because of a strong economy and fiscally conservative state leadership, Mihalich said.

"If we give some of that money back to the citizens in the form of a tax cut, the economy would do even better," he said, pledging to work with legislative leaders to "see that people get the tax cut they deserve."

Davis said any state surplus should go into education or building new prisons. "Illinois still ranks 47th out of 50 in education funding," Davis said.

Commitment plays vital to baseball

Despite the passing of years, there are some things you never forget. Regarding sports, I've been fortunate because long after my playing days, I witnessed many outstanding events and individuals.

However, when it comes to American Legion baseball, I have a fondness related to my playing days for the Belleville Bulldogs in 1968-69. Specifically, a trip to the state tournament in '58 became a life highlight.

No need to get into the maturity that came with playing Legion baseball. What was important then as well as now is that my college education was related to playing baseball, and when I told my college coach of having played in the state Legion finals, I had an immediate edge on my competition.

As a youngster growing up in Belleville, I longed to make a commitment to Legion baseball. When my two seasons had passed, I was proud of the association — something I knew my teammates shared.

Today, though, I have to question the commitment of athletes. Consider a coach like Dennis Schutzenhofer noting that even if Fairview Heights Post 978 had won this summer's state tourney in Moline, it was doubtful because of a shortage of players that Fairview would have competed in the national regional tournament.

Realize we are referring here to a state tourney that concluded on Aug. 11 — one in which Schutzenhofer had to borrow players from the Fairview Junior Legion to fill the senior team's roster.

The point here is not to find fault with the four players who failed to make it to the state tourney but to remind all persons involved — whether as spectator, sponsor, athlete, coach or parent that commitment is vital.

If Schutzenhofer knew he would be losing players to other commitments in mid-August, that's between him and his players. However, for all involved for Fairview Heights, which has hosted a state tourney previously, there is no excuse but to find its best team.

Should there be problems with the Legion season not concluding prior to the start of high school and college classes, then changes rest with Legion officials. Still, I question commitment, and as someone who has known Dennis Schutzenhofer since he was struggling to qualify for the roster of his high school team, I know he is not resigning just because coaching back-to-back seasons first at Belleville East High and then at Fairview Heights is too demanding physically.

Senior Geeta Kumar moves up to play No. 1 singles this season for the Lady Warriors, who open play Wednesday at McCluer North.

GCHS spreading court with senior-laden squad

Experienced nucleus set to lead netters

By Brian L. Jones
Correspondent

Marcie Holsinger was a central player for four years in the Granite City High School varsity girls tennis program. A second-team All-Area selection in 1995, Holsinger has moved on to Division III Rosary College in suburban Chicago. But she leaves behind all of her GCHS teammates from last fall, when the Lady Warriors went 5-7 in a tough dual-match schedule.

What GCHS loses without its former No. 1 singles player, it compensates for with more overall team depth and experience. With nine seniors on the fall roster — including three duals teams consisting entirely of seniors — GCHS should now make a bid for its best season under third-year coach Linda Ames.

Ames had her best year in 1994 when the Lady Warriors placed third in the Southwestern Conference Tournament behind the mighty Belleville West and Belleville East powerhouse programs. GCHS also went 7-7 that year in dual matches.

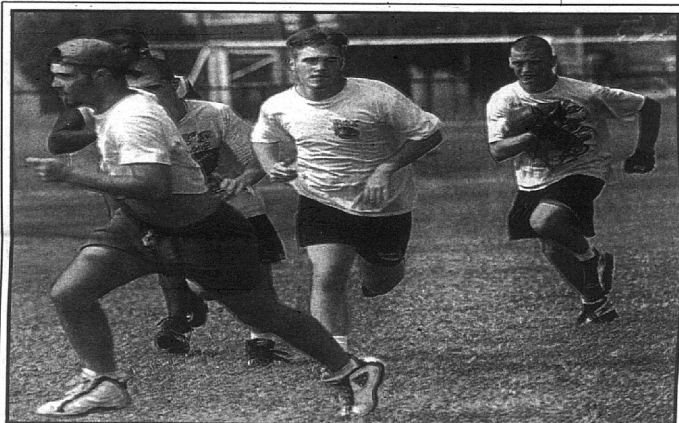

"Finishing third in the conference two years ago was a big achievement for us because that to us is almost like finishing first," said Ames, whose team is scheduled to open the season 4 p.m. Wednesday at McCluer North.

"I mean, you're never going to beat Belleville East or West. But after them, between Granite City, Collinsville and Alton, we're pretty competitive with each other.

"Edwardsville coming into the conference this year (along with East St. Louis Lincoln) will spell some differences for us (Edwardsville coach) Dave Lipa was an outstanding tennis player at Granite City North (See NETTERS, Page 3B)

Haefner hoping to get runners up to speed

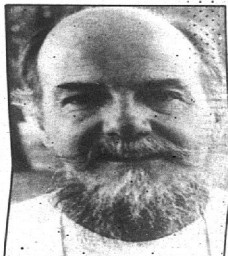

By Brian L. Jones
Correspondent

The workload increases this week for rookie head coach Tom Haefner as he tries to add recruits to his Granite City High School cross country program.

Because classes at GCHS do not start until Sept. 3, Haefner and assistant coach Paul Greeves have been unable to reach students for the first week of practice. The Journal incorrectly reported in the Aug. 21 edition that Haefner had 20 total boys and girls report for the first practice last Monday.

Haefner actually said he hopes to have 20 or more runners by the time the Warriors open the season on Sept. 7 with the Granite City Invitational. He had only 10 total runners out through last Friday, eight boys and two girls.

Five runners are required

Buds outslug Lakers, take M-C title

By Karen Vartianian
Staff writer

Scott Cepicky's three-run, eighth-inning homer Thursday night gave Waterloo its first Mon-Clair Baseball League title since 1994.

With two on and none out, Cepicky belted a 2-2 fastball from Brad Rippelmeyer well over the right-center field boards, sending the Buds (40-6) to an exciting 15-12 victory over Valmeyer in Waterloo.

"(Rippelmeyer) kept trying to get the fastball by me," Cepicky, Waterloo's cleanup hitter, said. "My main job is to hit the ball out of the park."

Eventually, I got something I could get my arms extended on. And with an aluminum bat, you don't have to hit that hard to hit it out of here."

Cepicky's heroics overshadowed an improbable seventh-inning comeback by the Lakers, who defeated the Buds 9-8 in the first game Thursday to force a championship game.

Trailing 12-4 heading into the top of the seventh, Valmeyer (24-8) scored eight times to force extra innings.

Red-hot Craig Hoffmann's two-run blast out the deficit in half.

After Waterloo starter Chris Hargan walked Mason Horne,

Buds manager Vern Moehrs called on Cole Proffer, who retired Mike McCarthy on a flyout.

After a walk, Kenny Mathews singled, loading the bases. Chris Landgraf hit a comebacker that Proffer let through his legs, bringing the Lakers within five.

Tim Degener followed with a run-scoring groundout. With two out, Rippelmeyer then socked a three-run circuit shot, slicing Waterloo's lead to 12-11.

Brett Crawford capped the rally with a solo blast, tying the game at 12-12. Brian Smith relieved Proffer and induced EXTRA INNINGS: Thoughts related to commitment struck me earlier this summer, first when Edwardsville pulled out of the Mon-Clair men's baseball league prior to the start of the season and then when Belleville folded midway.

The words of Belleville coach Gary Bernard ring when I recall him saying: "If we had won more, maybe that would have made a difference."

No, Gary, it's commitment, especially when you consider that defending St. Clair Division champion Granite City forfeited two games at Valmeyer on the last Sunday of the regular season.

And, those forfeits by a team that has emerged as a power in recent years are enough to make one wonder just how long the Mon-Clair League can survive if the teams that start a season cannot field nine players by the end.

"I watched forfeits ruin the Inter-City League, and I'm afraid of the same thing happening in our league," said Jim Blackledge, manager of the St. Clair champion East Alton-Bon Air team.

Managers on the men's level will tell you they have no trouble filling a 24-man roster in the spring. The same managers will tell you come early August of losing players to everything from float trips to spending a day at Six Flags or the St. Louis Zoo.

Again, I think of commitment and wonder if schedule changes were made on the American Legion or Mon-Clair levels if anything would change.

OVERTIME: Congrats to Fairview Heights mayor Gail Mitchell and everyone involved with the 10-day Pan American baseball championships won by Team USA. Longacre Park and its main baseball facility stand as testimony to the baseball interest in the Southwest-ern Illinois area.

High School and he has really turned on that (EHS) program. They will definitely be a team to contend with in the conference."

And, as usual, so will the Lady Warriors, now led by senior singles veteran Geeta Kumar.

"I think we'll be a lot like our previous teams — nothing flashy but very stable," Ames said. "Being 5-7 last year was not really disappointing, although we usually like to be at or above .500. I think we were fourth in the conference. But we had individuals who had outstanding years and we were very happy with that."

Among those impressive individuals was Kumar, the former No. 2 singles player now primed for Holsinger's vacated position. Kumar made all-area honorable mention as a junior and went 19-5 in singles play, actually recording more victories than did Holsinger. Kumar and Holsinger also combined on occasion as doubles partners — in conference matches, for example — and went 4-2.

"Geeta is a very competitive player, she's a hard worker and she's dedicated," Ames said. "It's going to be an adjustment for her playing up at No. 1, which is a big difference from No. 2, but I think she's ready for it. Obviously, the girls can't double back in matches, so she won't be playing doubles. I will leave it up to Geeta if she wants to play doubles at the sectional, though."

Conversely, senior Michelle Montgomery was a doubles-only player last year and now takes over at No. 2 singles. This is only her second year in the program, but Montgomery has improved considerably over last year, when she teamed with Amanda Crabtree for a 7-9 doubles record. Junior Adina Lewis also a second year varsity letterman, moves up to third singles.

"Adina played third doubles most of the time last year, but she also got some experience in No. 4 singles play," Ames said. "She suffered a broken wrist near the end of last season, but she's back in form and she has improved greatly."

Junior Melissa Nelson and freshman Katie Isom are battling for No. 4 singles. The Lady Warriors have had only one week of practice, so Ames will likely rely on challenge matches to choose between the two.

The same applies for all three doubles tandems, neither of which Ames dares to rank this early in any particular order.

"All six of those seniors are very equal right now," Ames said. "Any one of the pairs could wind up playing first doubles."

Crabtree's new partner is Kara Ballew, who has limited varsity experience, despite her senior status. Cindy Gorka, who also played sparingly on the varsity level, is now paired with Kim Conaway.

Julie Hildebrand, Conaway's former partner, is matched with Krislyn Niggili. Niggili played some third doubles and fourth singles as a junior.

"I also have a freshman doubles team, Julie Lemaster and Kristin Morton, who probably will get into some varsity matches this year," Ames said. "Obviously, we're not rebuilding now with nine seniors, but we will be next year after they all graduate."

Aside from shooting for a winning dual record, Ames would like to see her players become more aggressive in big matches.

"That's one of the disadvantages we have against the Belleville and O'Fallon kids, is that we don't play in as many tournaments over the summer," Ames said. "We look great in practices, but sometimes we tighten up and get a little tentative in match play. We need to be more relaxed, but less reserved and more aggressive. The girls all know that and that's what we want to overcome during the season."

The Lady Warriors' first home match is 4 p.m. Sept. 3 against Triad.

GCHS doubles player Kim Conaway will be paired with Cindy Gorka this season.

Hoffmann to fly out.

Rippelmeyer pitched a perfect seventh, and Smith followed suit in the eighth, setting up Cepicky's dramatics.

"Actual...I can't believe they didn't beat us," center fielder Jim Wahlig said. "Scoring eight in the top of the seventh to tie it, they had everything going their way. Well, we just had enough. That's all there is to it."

The championship win was the Buds' first since they defeated Granite City in the finals two years ago. The Clippers, who won the league title last year, were eliminated from the playoffs by Valmeyer last weekend. It marked the first time since 1991 that Granite City did not reach the final round of the league playoffs.

While Cepicky provided the decisive blow, it was Smith's bullpen work that gave Waterloo a chance. Making his task more difficult was being pulled after just 7 1/2 of an inning in game one.

"Smitty did a great job when he came in," Wahlig said. "You have to give him a lot of credit. He didn't quit, and that was the key to the game."

Smith went the final 1 1/2 in the nightcap, hurling perfect ball.

Waterloo appeared to seize command with a four-run sixth.

John Baxmeyer homered leading off. Neil Fiala followed with a single, and Lakers manager Dennis Pieper pulled Shaun Kohlenberger in favor of Scott Schumacher.

Wahlig fanned, but Mathews dropped Mike Wirth's fly ball, putting runners at the corners. Cepicky walked ahead of John Wahlig's RBI single.

Clayton gave Waterloo a 12-4 cushion with a two-run single.

"We really blew the game," Vern Moehrs said. "But you have to give Valmeyer a lot of credit. They're a good ball club."

Fiala paced Waterloo with three hits, including two homers. In addition to his eighth-inning blast, Cepicky homered in the first. Wirth and Baxmeyer also added long balls, as the Buds pounded out 15 hits.

Hoffmann was again the Lakers' hitting hero, going 2-for-5 with two homers and five RBIs. Rippelmeyer collected three hits and drove in four.

Although Waterloo blew an eight-run lead, Moehrs was pleased with the victory.

"That was a great ballgame and a great win for us," Moehrs said.

NOTES: Although Rippelmeyer surrendered the game-winning homer to Cepicky, the Lakers would not have been in the championship game without his services.

Valmeyer trailed Granite City 5-3 on Aug. 17 with two out in the seventh before Rippelmeyer belted a game-tying, two-run homer. One inning later playing shortstop, he gunned down the potential tying run at home.

Thursday, Rippelmeyer pitched a spotless 1 1/2 innings for the victory in game one. Offensively, he went 6-for-8 — including a homer and two doubles — with five RBIs.

"He did the job for us both games tonight," Pieper said of the former minor leaguer.

THE TWO TEAMS combined to hit a whopping 13 homers Thursday night. For Waterloo, John Baxmeyer, Cepicky (twice), Neil Fiala (twice), Jim Wahlig, John Wahlig and Mike Wirth all connected. Valmeyer's Brett Crawford, Hoffmann (twice), Mathews and Rippelmeyer belted homers.

girls team. Only four of Haefner's eight boys are returning lettermen currently listed as varsity runners. So it's conceivable Haefner may build for the future this year by adding more youngsters to complete a junior varsity team, while allowing the varsity members to compete as non-scoring individuals. Time will make the decision.

"We're very small right now," Haefner said. "I'm going to attend freshman orientation Wednesday and Thursday to try and get some more kids interested in running. I haven't seen anyone but my assistant coach (Paul Greeves) and the football team. But I plan to attend meetings and put out flyers and let the kids know they still have time to join up even after school starts. We're building right now."

Haefner eventually plans to meet with GCHS track coach Gene Briggs in hopes of getting more track distance runners on the course. He also hopes to benefit from Greeves' experience as track coach at Grigsby Junior High. Some of his former distance runners are now GCHS freshmen.

Haefner remains optimistic about the nucleus of veteran runners he does have. Seniors Robert Lampitt and Dave Thompson and junior Eddie Connolly are returning top-seven runners from last year, when the GCHS boys placed seventh in the Belleville West Class AA Regional.

"Lampitt's a third-year varsity letterman and we're looking to him for leadership," Haefner said. "We usually vote for team captain, but this time we appointed him. He calls the exercises and leads the group. The kids look up to him."

Eventually, Haefner hopes Connolly will emerge from injury as a co-captain. Like Lampitt, Connolly improved last spring by running open distance races in track. He also is a third-year varsity harpier. "Connolly's got a broken big toe right now," Haefner said. "We hope he will be ready for the invitational, but right now he's not even practicing. It happened (10 days ago). He was one of our strongest runners last year and he has matured quite a bit physically."

Thompson is a steady runner, who is acclimated to success in athletics. He is a member of Granite City's prestigious wrestling program.

"He uses cross country to get in top physical shape for wrestling, but he definitely does help our program," Haefner said. "He will contribute as a support runner."

The only other "official" varsity boys runner to date is junior Scott Laird, who competed both in JV cross country and basketball last year. Haefner is very high on sophomore Jeff Hassell and freshmen Dan Robinson, Kevin Atkins and Dave Elliff.

"I'm really excited about my junior varsity team if I can get enough kids," Haefner said. "These kids are covering the distances and doing great workouts."

Haefner hopes to keep the four youngsters out of varsity competition, certainly early on, if not for the entire season.

"If a kid is not ready physically and psychologically, we're not going to move him up just to make a team," Haefner said. "We may do that later on if he has a chance to do something or to get him some varsity experience for next year."

GCHS had six varsity girls last year who led the team to sixth place at the regional. Senior Heather Mell is the only one back. Four others graduated and another senior opted to concentrate on another sport. Mell has run varsity since her freshman year and is a two-mile track runner.

She is also a cross country captain. Her only teammate thus far is first-year harrier Crystal Robinson, a talented junior who ran long distances with Mell in track. Haefner said Robinson is a quick study in her new sport.

"I'm really enthused with the nucleus of kids we have now," Haefner said. "They all bring a certain amount of running ability and they're all serious about the practices. Obviously, we need more runners. But if this is what I have to work with, we're going to be a very competitive group of athletes."

COLOSSAL CLASSIFIED RULES & REGULATIONS

- No purchase is necessary to enter and receive prizes. All contest questions and answers will be posted August 26, 1996 in the main lobby of The Suburban Journals, at 1714 Deer Tracks Trail. The questions may also be found in the Journal newspapers on August 25.
- You must be 18 or older to enter and win.
- HOW TO ENTER: The contest will appear in the Colossal Classified Section August 25, 1996. Entries must be submitted in writing and may be mailed or hand-delivered to Colossal Classifieds Contest, The Suburban Journal, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, MO 63131. Complete the attached entry form and answer all questions correctly to be eligible to win. All ten questions, and their correct answers, will appear in the August 25, Colossal Classifieds Section. You may also enter by printing both the questions and the answers on a separate sheet of paper with your printed name, signature, address along with your day and night telephone numbers. Enter as many times as you like, but only one entry per envelope. Winners will be selected through a random drawing from all correct entries received, with the odds of winning determined by the number of entries. All entries must be received by Noon, Fri., Aug. 30, 1996.
- A complete list of winners will be published in the Sunday, Sept. 8, edition of the Suburban Journals.
- The contest is subject to all federal, state and local laws and void where prohibited by law. The publishers reserve the right to cancel the promotion at any time without prior notice. All taxes are the sole responsibility of the winners.
- By participating in the Colossal Classifieds Contest, the entrants agree to be bound by the contest rules; agree that the decisions of the judges are final; agree to permit the use of their names and photographs in the Suburban Journals.
- Employees of the Suburban Journals, Altair Travel and Cruises, Dr. Swim, The Ginger Bay Salon Group, Mrs. Fields, and their family members are not eligible to win.
- PRIZES: One grand prize winner wins the trip for two aboard Celebrity Cruises' Horizon on November 9 or Zenith November 23, 1996, courtesy of Altair Travel & Cruises; Two - 1st place winners win a $250 Gift Certificate to Dr. Swim, St. Louis' Best Swim Wear Stores; 10 - 2nd place winners will receive a Spa package to The Ginger Bay Salon Group; 100 - 3rd place winners will receive a $5 Gift Certificate from Mrs. Fields.

YES! I want to enter the Caribbean Contest!

Appreciation Day for seniors

Approximately 115 seniors enjoyed games, food and an auction at the Granite City Township Hall Aug. 13. The Appreciation Day is held for members who have current paid up dues prior to the day of the event.

Bruce Mort was chairman of the event. Rose Kaiser, assisted by several volunteers, was in charge of the food, including sandwiches, chips and cookies, served with lemonade and coffee.

Tully and Mary Evans, Bruce and Dee Mort, Ben Forsythe, Pete Allen and Bill Davis led the games. Each member showing a paid-up dues card was presented with $2,000 play money. Games were $100 each, winner takes all.

The highlight and the closing event of the evening was the auction of various items donated by local businesses. This was conducted by Bruce Mort, auctioneer, who was assisted by Bill Davis. Members used the play money they had accumulated to bid on the items.

Thanks go to local businesses for their support: Irwin Chapel, Thomas Memorial Mortuary, Jerry's Produce, Wal-Mart, Lombardi Furniture and Interiors, Hudson Jewelers Ltd., Central Bank, American Village Shopping Center, Bellemore Glik's, Mrs. Seibold's Bakery, Jan's Hallmark, Baskin Robbins and Grandpa's Store of Collinsville.

Marge Hall, president, and officers and board of directors members of the club would like to invite all persons age 50 and older to join the organization. The group meets for games and refreshments on the first Sunday of each month at 1 p.m. and the fourth Monday at 6 p.m. every other month for games.

August 19, 1996
Dear Parents and Citizens of Community Unit School District #9:

You may have noticed the new construction at the high school, the work on the athletic field, and the other events which signal that we are getting ready to begin the 1996-97 school year. School will begin for the students on Tuesday, September 3, 1996. In past years, the first day of school has been one-half day for students. This year the first day of school will be a full day operating on a regular schedule so please remember to provide your child with a lunch or lunch money. We hope that the later start of school, after the Labor Day holiday, will eliminate the need for a heat schedule. In the event that a heat schedule is necessary after the first day of school, your child will bring home a notice at the end of the first day.

In addition, you should be aware of several policy changes. The first involves truancy district losses about $20 in state funds. Last year, our district lost thousands of dollars that their children not to attend school. Beginning September 3rd, we will start a strict truancy enforcement program, which involves the use of uniformed police and truancy officers. Police officers will be issuing citations to parents who violate the attendance laws passed by our City Council. The Department of Public Aid will be notified when students on aid to dependent children are absent from school. Please reinforce the need for and importance of regular school attendance.

A second major change is our discipline system for expulsion and suspension. Drug possession at Granite City Senior High School was previously dealt with using suspension. Only repeated possession and selling of drugs was an expellable offense. The Board has now approved a new policy. Possession of drugs is an expellable offense in one semester to one year or more out of school. REMEMBER! POSSESSION OF ONLY A SMALL AMOUNT OF ANY TYPE OF ILLEGAL DRUGS WILL MEAN EXPULSION FROM SCHOOL FOR AS LONG AS ONE YEAR.

→ We were pleased that all twelve schools met Illinois State standards as a result of the April, 1996 Quality Review visit by the Illinois State Board of Education. The review was a culmination of a five-year effort. Along with the state visitation, district test scores on the I.C.A.P. (Illinois Goal Assessment Program) improved in six of the eight learning areas assessed by the state. Sixth grade mathematics and reading scores improved for the fifth consecutive year. Writing scores improved for the fourth consecutive year, as four schools at the sixth grade level scored at the "exceed" designation, the highest rating given by the state.

→ In the middle schools, the percentage of "meets" students in math exceeded Illinois' standards; and the percentage of "does not meet" students has dropped dramatically over the same period. In science, we have exceeded Illinois' percentages for the past three years. Finally, in social sciences, the percentage of "meets" students has exceeded Illinois' percentages and the middle school scores were "meets" in all categories.

→ At the high school level, three fourths of our students met or exceeded the overall science goals. Scores remained in the 240-250 range for the third consecutive year. Our students did better than the state average in Comparative Political and Economic Systems on the social sciences assessment. In math, our scores have remained relatively stable. Improvement was shown in four of the state's seven goals. In reading, the percentage of "meets" students has remained relatively constant. The only area that was a "does not meet" was writing on the high school level, which will be a goal for improvement during the 1996-97 school year.

→ In other activities, the Board of Education purchased new textbooks for elementary and secondary schools. The new mathematics series for the elementary schools combines both traditional math problem-solving with the use of manipulatives and word-solving problems. New English texts for fifth grade completed the new English textbook adoption. The district, for the first time in ten years, has returned to a seven-year cycle for textbook adoption and purchase.

→ The Board of Education allocated $360,000 to update technology throughout the district by purchasing state-of-the-art hardware and software. In addition, new library/media centers are near completion at both Coolidge and Grigsby Middle Schools, and a district-wide technology training facility is being prepared at Prather Elementary School. Each of these facilities will have Internet access capabilities.

→ The district moved to a hands-on approach to science instruction by purchasing math and science kits for each elementary grade level along with teacher training in the use of kits.

→ Our students will be able to see the world as it really is today with the new maps and globes purchased for each of the elementary schools.

→ Staff members successfully used Inservice and School Improvement Days to work on the Illinois School Improvement Plan, use of science kits, math manipulatives, technology, the St. Louis Science Center, and assertive discipline techniques. Curriculum guides were developed in the three learning areas at the elementary level: science, mathematics, and social sciences. This process will continue as curriculum is developed in language arts, physical education, and health. The guides align locally developed learning objectives, outcomes and lessons with Illinois State Goals and Standards and provide for an organized and sequential curriculum. In addition, School Improvement Plan Assessment manuals and curriculum guides were completed in the Fine Arts: dance, drama, music, and visual arts.

→ We have added an elementary latch-key program and now have five elementary schools participating. Latch-key operates from 6:30 a.m. until the start of school and after school until 6:30 p.m. These programs provide a valuable service to working parents and, at the same time, cost the school district nothing in tax dollars. Participating in the latch-key programs are Frohardt, Maryville, Mitchell, Niedringhaus, and Worthen Elementary Schools.

→ We are very happy that our transition to one-day kindergarten went very well.

→ If your child is in either Coolidge or Grigsby Middle School, you will be happy to know that we are delighted with our first full year of operation under the middle school concept. Discipline problems decreased significantly, and parent communication was much improved.

Our district and educational family have been abundantly blessed. I look forward to serving our community for another school year.

Sincerely,
Steve Balen
Superintendent
